

Dan Palmere

“Zazu Featured Vocalist”

Dan Palmere is a dynamic new talent whose velvet tone captivates audiences. His romantic and artful music pays tribute to the legendary song writers of jazz, such as Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, and Antonio Carlos Jobim.

Dan’s unique arrangements of these jazz classics showcase his contemporary flair, to appeal to audiences both young and old. His sound has been compared to that of a young Michael Bublé

Now in his early twenties, Dan just graduated from the Berklee College of Music in Boston, where he was the recipient of the North American Scholarship. While at Berklee, Dan performed in a variety of ensembles and musical productions, both as a lead singer and background vocalist. He performed at many live events in Boston, including Berklee’s Annual Cornucopia Dinner, weekly sessions at Berklee’s Performance Club, with the Rusty Scott Trio at the Les Zygomates Wine Bar, and at the Berklee Performance Center.

Dan studied voice with Livingston Taylor and Walter Beasley in Boston, as well as master classes in New York with 2010 Grammy Award winning artist, Kurt Elling.

Dan has returned to his home in Orlando to romance Central Florida audiences with his velvet voice.
